AGNES ELLEN HARRIS CLUB

Dean Agnes Ellen Harris organized the Caroline Hunt Club in 1927 soon after she came to the University. The name was changed to Agnes Ellen Harris Club after her death to perpetuate her memory.

The Agnes Ellen Harris graduate scholarship fund is used to help women study toward a doctorate in the field of their choice. The fund is made up of contributions by hundreds of donors from Alabama and the South.

The Agnes Ellen Harris Club is the University home economics college club, a professional club affiliated with the Alabama Home Economics Association and the American Home Economics Association.

The club is a service honor organization and membership is open to all students majoring in home economics. It provides members an opportunity to exchange ideas and advance home economics by participating in the various activities, including the Helen Bosard Scholarship Fund, Faculty-Student picnic, making Christmas toys for Partlow State School, and the Little Sister program for new students at registration.
